1 ... |>I am vehemently opposed to Yucca Mountain serving as a nuclear waste repository. I 2 am unconvinced by DOE scientists that this is a safe storage alternative. | The federal government is caught between a rock and a hard place as a result of its failure to timely meet its obligations to the nuclear waste generators and its failure to properly identify and explore all other alternatives. Aside from Yucca Mountain, no other alternatives have been explored. Consequently, Yucca Mountain has become a false hope, a last resort. | Nevertheless, it is a terrible resort. | The most troubling component of the project is the need to transport the nuclear waste to get it into Yucca Mountain. The risks are extremely high for accidents or worse. There simply is no safe way to transport the material, let alone store it in a potentially unstable environment. I believe the EIS falls far short of addressing (let alone answering) any of these concerns. |
