1 -->The idea to store nuclear waste in Yucca mountain is a bad one. The proximity to protected land and endangered species dictates that this plan be halted. I don't pretend that storage of radioactive waste has any easy solutions. Nobody wants the stuff near their homes. There is now enough knowledge about nuclear waste that we know there is no "safe" place to store it. Clearly a moratorium on any new nuclear facilities and not granting renewal permits for those already in operation would be a step in the right direction. I say no to the Yucca Mountain storage idea. It's about time we all started saying no to these destructive and unsafe ideas.
